

Cancer In The News

Ramon Parsons, MD, PhD and Jian Jin, PhD, discuss their study which pioneered a new molecule that has proved capable of killing a common cancer-causing gene. [Innovators Magazine] [Sci Tech Daily] [Medical Xpress] [Fierce Biotech] [News Medical] [Drug Target Review]

Thomas Marron, MD, discusses his cancer vaccine research and his patient, who is a participant in the cancer vaccine trials. [Your Erie] [Action News 5] [WNDU]

Joshua Brody, MD, discusses the FDA approval of CAR T-cell therapy. [Healio: Primary Care]

Lauren Radziejewski, DNP, ANP-BC, comments on a study about barriers to cervical cancer screening in transgender and nonbinary men. [Healio: Primary Care]

Andrea Branch, PhD, discusses her new study which showed increased hepatic steatosis among responders who arrived earlier at the World Trade Center site. [Healio: Gastroenterology]

Fred Hirsch, MD, PhD, discusses the importance of lung cancer screening. [U.S. News & World Report]

Adilia Hormigo, MD, PhD, comments on a study regarding a novel helmet device that generates a noninvasive oscillating magnetic field. [Medscape]

Deborah Doroshov, MD, PhD, comments on a study which evaluated cancer treatment misinformation on social media. [Medical News Today]

Hanna Irie, MD, PhD, and Premkumar Reddy, PhD, discuss their study which identified and validated a new breast cancer therapy that targets and eliminates breast cancer stem cells. [Genetics and Bioengineering News]

Krzysztof Misiukiewicz, MD, is an oncologist who offers patients a customized care plan tailored to their specific cancer and access to innovative treatments. [Pro News Report]

Keith Sigel, MD, PhD, MPH, discusses the $4 million dollar grant awarded to The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai by the National Cancer Institute, for a large-scale study to evaluate anal cancer screening in high-risk women who have been previously diagnosed with human papillomavirus infection. [News Medical] [Onclive] [Crain's Health Pulse]

Claudia Henschke, MD, PhD, and Andrea Branch, PhD, discuss their study which showed that first responders who arrived at the World Trade Center immediately after the 9/11 terrorist attacks were more likely to develop liver disease than those who later worked at the site. [MD Alert]

Charles Shapiro, MD, discusses his study regarding dalpiciclib, for HR+ HER2- advanced breast cancer. [MD Alert]

Cancer In The News

Ketan Badani, MD, discusses how genomic tests such as Oncotype DX help him discuss treatment options for patients with low-risk or early-stage prostate cancer. [Urology Times]

Hanna Irie, MD, PhD, discusses her research regarding a novel compound and triple negative breast cancer. [MD Alert]

Ronald Hoffman, MD, discusses his involvement, participation, and research regarding above-average rates of polycythemia vera. [Targeted Oncology]