

PLANET FRIENDLY HURRICANE PREP

Use storage containers you already have or buy large capacity plastic jugs of water.

Buy nonperishable food you will actually eat, even after the storm season has passed.

If evacuating to a hotel, bring your own toiletries to avoid using the provided small plastic bottles.

If you lose access to water and are unable to wash dishes, choose disposable dishware that is compostable.

Identify areas at risk of flooding and do your best to remove your personal possessions. Flood-damaged items often end up in a landfill.

For plastic covers, consider using items you already own like shower curtains and plastic-lined tablecloths. If you need more, invest in a quality tarp you can reuse each year.

UF Thompson
Earth Systems Institute

