

Batch for Books Announces Partnerships with W.W. Norton

April 30, 2026 — Batch for Books is pleased to announce its newest publisher partnership, with W.W. Norton & Company, reflecting the continued growth of its network and its ongoing commitment to providing bookstores and publishers with a simpler, more efficient way to manage invoices and payments.

“We’re excited to welcome W.W. Norton & Company to Batch,” said Fraser Tanner, Batch for Books Inc. C.E.O. “Each new publisher partnership strengthens the overall network, creating greater efficiency and value for bookstores and publishers alike. Norton’s participation reflects a shared commitment to improving workflows and supporting a healthier and sustainable bookselling ecosystem, and we know our indie bookstore partners will be thrilled to see them join the Batch network.”

Batch for Books offers an intuitive, paperless platform that helps independent bookstores streamline invoice management and payment processes. The service is currently trusted by over 575 bookstores across the United States and continues to grow.

Julia Reidhead, Chairman and President of W. W. Norton & Company, remarked, “We are thrilled finally to be live on Batch for Books. Our independent bookseller partners have requested a simple, online process to track and manage their invoices, and Batch for Books is our answer to that request.”

The addition of W. W. Norton & Company to Batch for Books’ network complements its existing partnerships with Arcadia Publishing, Blackstone Publishing, Gardner’s US, Hachette, HarperCollins, Independent Publishers Group, Macmillan Publishing Services, Microcosm Publishing, Penguin Random House, and Simon & Schuster.

“Our publisher partnerships are central to Batch’s continued growth,” Nathan Halter, US Operations Manager added. “By bringing more trading partners onto a shared platform, we’re helping create a more efficient, transparent, and sustainable process for everyone involved.”

“We’re thrilled to have Norton’s participation in Batch,” said Allison K. Hill, CEO of the American Booksellers Association (ABA). “Norton’s leadership in the industry, embodiment of the independent spirit, and ongoing support of independent bookstores make them an obvious partner for this invaluable tool that frees booksellers up to sell more books.”

W. W. Norton & Company expects to be fully integrated with Batch during 2026. Bookstores interested in signing up for Batch should email support@batchforbooks.com for more information.
