

LEAN in Healthcare

Refresh & Repeat Training in LEAN Methodologies for Leaders in Healthcare

LEAN is a methodology meant to improve the performance of any processes. It is a way to eliminate waste and improve quality, allowing for a positive shift in organizational culture.

LEAN has been embraced by the healthcare industry with success in the past. However, as populations' age and immigration fuels growth, refreshing and repeating the methods in LEAN training can implement improvements to modern challenges.

How to Identify When to Go LEAN

ACE is an acronym for Acknowledge-Collaborate-Execute. Training experts will spend time at your location, witnessing the people and processes in order to identify the LEAN maturity level and note potential areas for improvements.

Master Black Belts in LEAN will then create a customized, modern Good/Better/Best analysis of the opportunities for training available to your organization. The diagnostic tool is provided as a courtesy before any investment in training is required.

Unique to CI360, the A.C.E. Diagnostic Tool is provided exclusively by Master Black Belts for a customized Good-Better-Best analysis of opportunities for training and improvement.

What are the Options for Training?

LEAN White Belt

1-day introduction for all levels of an organization. The first step to implementing LEAN methods by familiarizing yourself with basic concepts and language of LEAN.

LEAN Yellow Belt

3-days of training facilitated by a Green Belt. Education on the practical skills to implement LEAN projects. Exposure to tools such as Kaizen (change for the good).

LEAN Green Belt

5-days of training, 35 days of project development with coaching. Examination and certification included. In-depth overview of LEAN thinking principles, preparing participants to be able to lead LEAN projects, as well as facilitate a team or mentor yellow belts.

Champion Training

1-day training session for Managers, Directors and above, who endorse the project and wish to ensure successful deployment of outcomes.

Money Belt

1-day training session for financial experts who understands the financial benefit to continuous improvement and want to support training from a financial perspective.

All training options are customizable and adaptable to your organization's environment.
