

SAME SACRAMENTO POST PRESENTS

AI WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW TO BE COMPLIANT

(RESCHEDULED)

Thursday, October 2, 2025

12:00 PM TO 1:00 PM PDT

TOPIC:

AI is showing up everywhere, from how we gather information to how we manage tasks, but using it in the Federal space comes with unique challenges. This session will walk through the current landscape of AI tools, where they can be used safely for business intelligence, and what limitations exist when it comes to remaining compliant with CMMC. You'll leave with a clearer understanding of where AI fits into your day-to-day work and where to proceed with caution.

SPEAKER:

Victoria Mechtly has nearly 15 years of experience working alongside technical professionals in the Federal, Aerospace, Transportation, and Power sectors of the A/E/C industry. She currently leads the SAME Industry-Government Engagement Roundtable on AI, helping build awareness around how AI is being used, where it's headed, and what both industry and government need to be thinking about. At her firm, she's part of the AI Working Group focused on internal education and communication around policy, productivity, and real use cases. She recently had the opportunity to present to USACE HQ as part of their AI Discovery Workshop, sharing how industry is putting AI into action today.

LOCATION:

Webinar – MS Teams login information to be provided prior to event.

WEBINAR COST:

Free—Student Members, Active Duty Enlisted/Company Grade Officers & Speakers

$10—Government, Field Grade Officer Military & Retired

$20—Industry Members

$25—Industry Non-members

Please note that all no-shows will be charged without exception.

REGISTRATION:

Registration is available by using our online registration link. There are contacts and information on the registration pages if you need additional information.

QUESTIONS:

Jill Miller, Event Coordinator/Post Programs Committee Chair– 530.965.7640 (miller18jm@gmail.com)

Kara Olivarez, (Event Registration), Post Communications – 916.496.9716 (kolivarez@cecilinc.com)