Quota Club International Seed Library

The Estevan Seed Library

works much like a regular library, but instead of books, gardeners borrow seeds that are adapted to our prairie environment.

Members come to the library and borrow seed for their garden. They grow the plants in their garden and at the end of the season, they let a few plants 'go to seed.' From those plants, they collect seeds and return the same amount of seed (or more) as they borrowed at the beginning of the growing season. Seeds are free to members. Since seed is a living thing, it must be renewed each year somewhere by someone or unique varieties can become extinct. Even growing one seed and returning it to the library is a valuable contribution.

This Library was made possible by the Estevan Quota Club International.
