

The CSL Journal Winter 2018 Edition is Now Available, and It's Better Than Ever!

This edition may inspire you to:

Start a Shift: Read stories of district-wide Learning Commons transformations, one in Ontario and one in Alberta.

Empower Learners: Deborah McCallum, author of The Feedback-Friendly Classroom, shares ideas about what quality feedback looks like in the school library.

Start Truth Conversations at Your School: Take inspiration from two articles: Treaties Recognition Week, and Truth, Reconciliation and the Library Learning Commons.

Be Inspired by Author Interviews: An interview with award-winning YA author Caroline Pignat, and from the SLiC Archives, Derrick Grose in conversation with Cory Doctorow!

Explore Professional Learning: Taking a look at teacher-librarian training across Canada.

Connect to Leading Learning's New Exemplars: Brought to you by the CSL Leading Learning Committee.

Celebrate International Women's Day: Our partners from Resource Linksmagazine share reviews of resources which feature strong women characters and deal with feminist issues.

Participate in a New CSL Project: Planning and implementing supports to advance culturally relevant and responsive school library learning commons, inspired by TMC5's Big Think.

Connect to the CSL Journal website to start reading now!
