

FIRST VOICES
FIRST.

Opening up access to make voices heard.

Emerald publishing has partnered with The Council of Prairie and Pacific University Libraries (COPPUL) to provide Indigenous communities free access to research content through their local public libraries and colleges.

“ We at UCN see this partnership with a great deal of anticipation and we really think the services it will offer to our students will be invaluable. We are grateful to COPPUL, the University of Saskatchewan, and Emerald Publishing for making this collaboration happen and for including us at UCN. ”

Dr. Harvey Briggs, Associate Vice-President Reconciliation, Research and Academic Innovation, University College of the North

College access

Students and faculty in the following learning institutions can access the full text of 120 Emerald journals on Emerald Insight when you log in to your library website at:

- University College of the North
- Saskatchewan Indian Institute of Technologies

Students and faculty in the following learning institution can access the full text of 120 Emerald journals by registering on the Emerald Insight platform

- Northlands College

LEARN MORE

