Graduate Spotlight:

Jossie Louis

As a Rattler for Justice, Jossie Louis is dedicated to using the law to serve others and bring about lasting impact.

“I understand the legacy of FAMU College of Law and take seriously the responsibility to serve my community," said Louis, a 2026 graduate.

As a law student, Louis strengthened her commitment to using the law to advocate for others and create meaningful change.

“Through my involvement at the school in Student Bar Association, Black Law Students Association and American Civil Liberties Union, I strive to make an impact within my school and local community," said Louis.

As a graduate, she encourages future students to believe in themselves and be open to learning.

“Never doubt yourself or compare yourself to others," said Louis. “Navigate this entire experience with an attitude of gratefulness and openness to experience what is offered at the school."
