Offering training and assistance in lean and quality

LEAN SIX SIGMA YELLOW BELT TRAINING

We heard the requests from so many of our clients across the state and put together a practical approach to using the Lean and Six Sigma tools in everyday applications. The Alabama Training Network created a 2-day training, which provides hands-on activities along with learning the tools, calling this class "Lean Six Sigma Yellow Belt Training". We recently completed several classes for a company that wanted to put their front-line and mid-management through this training. Feedback was overwhelmingly positive, as the participants could see how to apply the tools of both the Lean and Six Sigma "worlds".

Please don't hesitate to contact us if this training or any other interests you!
