

Good Day!

This is your 30-Second Business Training:

Recruitment & Hiring Strategies

ENJOY

Click here to begin

How can I find qualified employment candidates with disabilities?

Through a local American Job Center (AJC).

Through a local Employment Network.

Through the Workforce Recruitment Program for College Students with Disabilities.

All of the Above.

This is one way...

American Job Center's serve all job seekers, including job seekers who experience disability.

By posting your open employment positions with your local Job Center you will be accessing a wide array of qualified candidates. For more information about employer services through the CareerOneStop Business Center click here.

Try Again!

This is one possibility...

You can access the Employment Network (EN) directory to find an EN in your local area that can connect you with qualified employment candidates with disabilities for your open job positions by going to the Ticket to Work Operation Support Manager (OSM) website, by clicking here.

Try Again!

This is one answer...

The Workforce Recruitment Program for College Students with Disabilities is a free, nationwide database of pre-screened, qualified postsecondary students and recent college graduates with disabilities who are available for permanent and temporary positions. Employers can search the database by state or job category and obtain specific information on candidates' qualifications. For more information click here.

Try Again!

CORRECT!

To learn about these and other recruitment resources go to the Employer Assistance & Resource Network (EARN) online. This resource was developed to help employers, human resource professionals and business managers make informed decisions that support the recruitment, hiring and retention of people with disabilities.

For information from EARN on recruitment strategies and resources click here, then choose “Recruitment & Hiring”.

This 30-Second Training has been developed using Federal funds from the Department of Labor under Contract No.: DOLJ131A22067. The contents of this publication do not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the Department of Labor, nor does mention of trade names, commercial products, or organizations

