

TENDING HOPE in HARD TIMES:

An Advent Retreat at the House Next Door

Hope. It's often mistaken for wishful thinking, but it's actually a driving force for action, a motivation for living, and a vision of a better future. Hope is also not simply a feeling. But, good news, it's a skill that can grow with tending. Which seems ... hopeful (ha!) ... in a time of so much despair. During this retreat we'll learn the practices involved in tending the seeds of hope in our own lives, so we might grow more hope-filled, especially during times when hope seems scarce.
