

MAKING HEALTH CARE WHOLE

January 12, 2017 • Queen's Conference Center • 1301 Punchbowl Street Honolulu, HI 96813

As a result of attending this conference, spiritual care and healthcare providers will have a deeper understanding on the relevance of spirituality to the overall well-being of patients and their loved ones. Connections will be bridged between the work of medical professionals and religious/spiritual care providers. The day will be divided into two sections, which can be attended separately. In the morning, Dr. Puchalski will lead us on a journey towards creating healing environments for the people we are called to serve. In the afternoon, she will facilitate small group discussions on how our organizations can increase our effectiveness in providing spiritual care.
