Lindsay Munoz has over a decade of in-house experience across both the non-profit and corporate sectors. Most recently, she served as Vice President of Public Policy and Advocacy at the Greater Houston Partnership (GHP), where she led advocacy campaigns, managed executive projects, and built strong relationships with local chambers of commerce, trade associations, and community leaders. Before that, she was Director of External Affairs at AT&T, acting as a liaison between elected officials, non-profit organizations, and the company in the Houston area. She also worked at the Houston Association of REALTORS (HAR) as Manager of Governmental Affairs, overseeing political engagement and local policy initiatives. Beginning her career as Communications Director for State Representative Mark Homer in the Texas House of Representatives, Lindsay has since been recognized for her leadership and ongoing commitment to community service since relocating to Houston in 2010.
