DEEP AND WILD: REMAKING YOUR CHURCH FROM THE OUTSIDE IN (821103) Author: Beck, Michael Adam. For better or worse, Jesus entrusted his mission to “make disciples of all nations” to us, and it starts in our own neighborhood. On the new missional frontier, being deep is not enough—God is calling forth some missional wild ones. We need to be deep and wild! Across the United States and beyond, the God who makes all things new is up to something. Amid a Christian landscape that looks and feels like a desert of decline, new oases of the Spirit are springing forth. Inherited congregations with long histories and deep roots are experimenting with cultivating wild forms of church called “fresh expressions.” Whereas revitalization often involves internal adjustments (an inside-out approach with better preaching, better coffee, better programs, etc.), remaking through fresh expressions involves an outside-in approach. This book is a guide to help local church folks, the everyday heroes of the faith, make this much-needed journey toward vitality for the twenty-first century church. Chapters: The opening vision – a tree of life; The new missional frontier; Post-everything – six shifts; God of recycling bins, not dumpsters; Wild branches – fresh expressions; Deep roots – the blended ecology; (Re)missioning – time for a remix; Symbiosis – the hybrid organism; Closing vision – tree of life (re)mixed. Includes bibliography. 309 Pages.

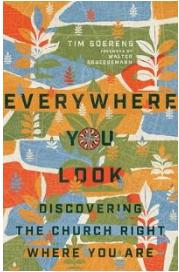

DEEP ROOTS, WILD BRANCHES: REVITALIZING THE CHURCH IN THE BLENDED ECOLOGY (819172) Author: Beck, Michael Adam. What is the future of the church in North America? One of the major pitfalls of the past few decades is ‘either/or’ thinking — either attractional or missional; traditional or contemporary; old or new. In this book, missiologist and church planter Dr. Michael Beck contends we must cultivate what he calls a “blended ecology” of church that has both deep roots and wild branches. Drawing on biblical wisdom and emerging forms of church planting, Beck introduces us to present-day models and examples that don’t leave traditional forms behind, but harness the power of “both/and.” It honors vintage models while blending fresh expressions of real evangelism. This book inspires local churches to cultivate a blended ecology of church in their communities. Includes questions for reflection and discussion. 170 Pages.

DREAM LIKE JESUS: DEEPEN YOUR FAITH AND BRING THE IMPOSSIBLE TO LIFE

EVERYWHERE YOU LOOK: DISCOVERING THE CHURCH RIGHT WHERE YOU ARE

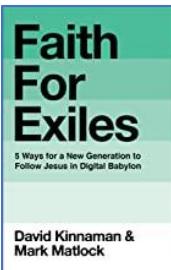

(820137) Author: Soerens, Tim. What's the point of the church anyway? The emerging generation is opting out of the church in large numbers. They're embarrassed at how the church is portrayed in the media and dismayed at what appears to be their options for participation. Is church really necessary anymore in our day? Is it even possible? Tim Soerens sees this unsettled state of affairs as an extraordinary opportunity: the church, he says, is on the edge of a new possibility at the very moment so much of it feels like it's falling apart. In his extensive travels in all kinds of neighborhoods, he has seen the beginnings of this movement firsthand. In this book, he lays out practical, actionable steps for building collaborative communities in any neighborhood. Here is a vision of the church grounded in a grassroots movement of ordinary people living out what it means to be the church in their everyday lives. Chapters:

The movement or the meltdown; The big Why; The magic of paying attention; The megachurch next door; The parish is the unit of change; The same team; Learning from local heroes; Already here. 134 Pages.

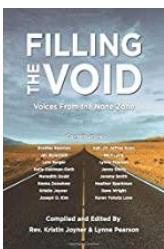

EXTERNALLY FOCUSED QUEST: BECOMING THE BEST CHURCH FOR THE COMMUNITY

(821001) Author: Swanson, Eric and Rusaw, Rick. This book is designed for church leaders who want to transform their churches to become less internally focused and more oriented to the world around them. Authors Eric Swanson and Rick Rusaw include clear guidelines on the changes congregations must adopt to become truly outwardly focused. This book is not about getting all churches to have an annual day of community service as a tactic, but changing the core of who they are and how they see themselves as a part of their community. It outlines changes needed for church leaders to transform their churches and presents a highly practical approach that shows leaders how to become more externally focused without having to give up programs that serve members. This book reveals what it takes to make the major shift from internal to external focus and how that affects church leadership. 166 Pages.

JOURNEY'S CALL: RETURNING TO OUR PIONEER ROOTS (821057) Author: Maynard, Phil. The people called Methodists are part of what was one of the greatest movements in all of history. Methodism was not conceived as a new kind of institution to do what we have always done in a more structured, restrictive way. It was a movement to reform the institutional church. It was a movement to help people rediscover the amazing relationship God has offered to us through Jesus Christ. It was a movement to recapture the change that God works in the heart through faith in Christ. For modern-day Methodists, the present challenge is to embrace adaptive change - not merely to employ technical changes to pull every trick out of the hat to preserve the institution as it has been - but to remain true to the Great Commission while modifying our approach with flourish and finesse. It's not about institutional preservation. It's about a bold, adaptive journey that ultimately honors the narrative of our heritage as Methodists and defines us as faithful and fearless disciples. This book discusses this Pioneer Theology and how churches can implement it. Chapters: The idea of the journey; Movement; Life cycle of the church; Settler and pioneer theology; Salvation by grace; Inclusive community; Spiritual practices; Accountability for growth as a disciple; Efficacy of the sacraments; Empowerment by the Holy Spirit; Compassionate ministries; Social responsibility; Old normal vs new normal chart; Paragraph 202 principle; Reimagined worship; Reimagined hospitality; Reimagined discipleship; Reimagined service; Reimagined generosity; Reimagined leadership; Responding to twists and turns; The expedition team's shared spirit of the journey. The authors examine best practices for starting new faith communities in today's world, incorporating interviews with five effective church planters. WE WERE SPIRITUAL REFUGEES: A STORY TO HELP YOU BELIEVE IN CHURCH (820032)

Author: Hays, Katie. Galileo Church is not a cool, hip, exotic breed; it's just church, reimagined for a new day. In this book, Katie Hays, planter-pastor of Galileo Church, shares the story of departing the traditional church (on good terms, though) for the frontier of the spiritual-but-not-religious and building community with Jesus-loving (or at least Jesus-curious) outsiders. Now well-established, Galileo Church "seeks and shelters spiritual refugees" in the suburbs of Fort Worth, Texas; especially young adults, LGBTQ+ people, and all the people who love them. Told in funny, poignant, and short vignettes, Galileo's story is not one of how to be cool for Christ. Like its founder, Galileo is deeply uncool and deeply devout, and always straining ahead to see what God will do next. Hays says curiosity is her greatest virtue, and she recounts learning how to share the good news with people who are half her age and intensely skeptical. 306 Pages.
