TROWEL AND A SWORD: PRAYER PRACTICES FOR THOSE ON THE FRONTLINES OF THE GOSPEL (120086) Author: Fosner, Verlon. On the front lines of the gospel, Christians are in the business of kicking in the front door of the strongman and plundering his house—removing people he has worked hard to oppress. Accordingly, prayer must take on a declarative, bold, and authoritative tone. To show up on the front lines of the gospel without this form of prayer is the equivalent of bringing the proverbial knife to a gunfight. This conflict becomes more acute as a church becomes more effective at reaching lost people. In Nehemiah, after the group became effective at working with the trowel in building the wall, there came a time when their enemies gathered, and they had to become skilled with the sword. What a picture for an effective gospel worker: a trowel of evangelism in one hand and a sword of prayer in the other.
