Dave's Den

One of the things we can count on in the new year is change. Few of us are truly comfortable with change. However, it comes whether or not we want it. There will be a number of changes in our church life in the new year.

At some point in the new year, you will have a new minister. The work we are doing in the interim ministry is intended to make the coming of a new minister a joyous experience. I hope you are wrapping the whole process of calling a minister in prayer. That is the first step in making the experience a happy one.

Another change that is effective January 1, is that Roger Finch will be on a medical leave of absence. That will continue until March 31, as he works at dealing with some medical issues.

During Roger's leave of absence, the choir will not be singing. Danene Knudsen and I will be working together to secure special music. Our goal is to have a variety of types and styles of music.

Also, during this time Sandy Vogel, the new chair of the vision council will appoint a task force to study the future direction of our music program. There are a variety of opinions about music in our church, and we are going to address that issue in a thoughtful unemotional study. Music has implications for the church's future, and we need to have a plan. Bathe this study in prayer as well.

There will undoubtedly be other changes that we cannot yet foresee. But we are not afraid of change, for it is a condition of life, we will face those changes in the attitude of Paul who said, "God did not give us a spirit of fear, but of power and love and self-control." May we live in that spirit.

Your friend and interim minister
Dave
