

IN THE CLASSROOM

This year, French I took the French Halloween poem "Cinq Petits Potirons" (Five Little Pumpkins) a little further and put it into MOTION! The class decorated five pumpkins, recorded the poem and then filmed the pumpkins "rolling" down the front ND hill. Click HERE to watch the video!

BON TRAVAIL ~ JOYEUX HALLOWE'EN!

In studying the Sacrament of Confirmation, Mrs. Lapadula's junior theology class defined each of the seven gifts of the Holy Spirit. Students were then asked to reflect on one of the gifts that stood out to them, its importance in their daily life, and to symbolize that gift by illustrating something that would help them recall the meaning of the gift. Clockwise work from: Pedro Espada '24, MaXin Liao '24 and Ava Garcia '24.

Students in the Art Foundations Studios just finished up their realistic pumpkin drawings surrounded by warm and cool colors. There were so many wonderful solutions to this project! (And they used crayons for the gorgeous background colors!)

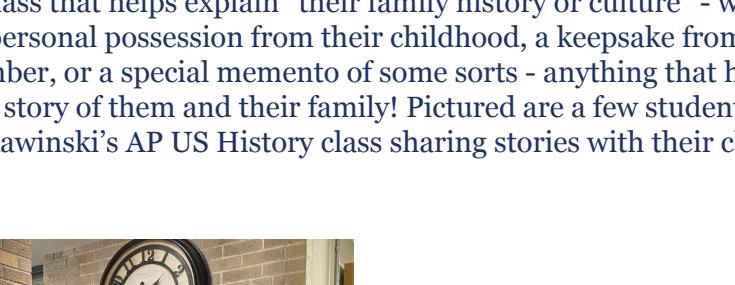

Students in Miss Zembrzuski's Algebra I class were given the task to pick any month of the year and for each date make an algebraic equation to represent that date. They were asked to decorate their calendars to represent important events that occur during the month.

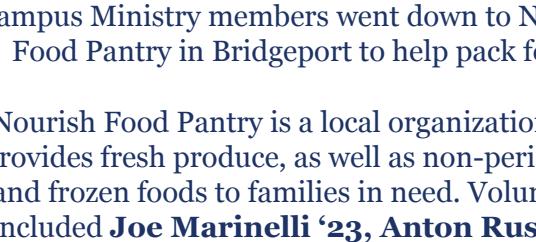

The Culture Club hosted a celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month, complete with food, friends and music. Thank you to all the students who came out in support of this event!

In Mr. Skawinski's US History classes, students are throwing it back to the good old days by participating in "Show & Tell" a few times each marking period. Students are asked to bring in something to share with the class that helps explain "their family history or culture" - whether it be a personal possession from their childhood, a keepsake from a family member, or a special memento of some sorts - anything that helps tell the story of them and their family! Pictured are a few students from Mr. Skawinski's AP US History class sharing stories with their classmates.

Campus Ministry members went down to Nourish Food Pantry in Bridgeport to help pack food.

Nourish Food Pantry is a local organization that provides fresh produce, as well as non-perishable and frozen foods to families in need. Volunteers included Joe Marinelli '23, Anton Rusu '23 and Sarah Mustafa '24. Keep up the great work!

Congratulations to the October Students of the Month: Christabelle Laurenard '25, Joe Marinelli '23, Lucy Adams '26, and Grace Farenga '24.
