

LIVING THE LANCER LIFE

ALUMNI CORNER

Notre Dame is fortunate to have Paul Gleason '64 serving as the chairperson of our board. A seasoned executive with strong business acumen, Paul brings a wealth of experience to our pursuit of elevated excellence.

After graduating from Notre Dame in 1964, Paul obtained his accounting degree and his MBA from the University of Bridgeport. He began his career in public accounting at PwC before transitioning to a decades-long journey with Xerox Corporation, where he would lead several key initiatives. Paul's stellar career accomplishments range from helping Apple and Dell launch their products in Latin America to running worldwide marketing in the small and medium business arena, but he considers his greatest achievement to be his loving family. With four children and twelve grandchildren by his side here in Connecticut, Paul feels blessed to be surrounded by those nearest and dearest to him.

Throughout his professional career, Paul had the opportunity to live and travel abroad, where he embraced a variety of new cultures. "When you learn about other cultures, you begin to understand more about your own," Paul said. "I look back on my career and life and found that my four years at Notre Dame had more to do with my character and faith than any other period."

Paul believes that with faith comes service to others, and it was this guiding philosophy that led him to our board of directors. Now as the chairperson, Paul seeks to benefit our school for generations to come, and we could not be more grateful for his efforts. Once a Lancer, always a Lancer!

Bayley McKeon '16 is making a splash in the field of marine science. Having found her calling in the third grade, she is now living out her dream down in Washington, DC.

As a student at Notre Dame High School, Bayley had the opportunity to explore her passion through an array of course offerings. In conjunction with our standard science curriculum, she pursued a handful of online classes such as marine science and human anatomy. "Thanks to Notre Dame, I was able to broaden my horizons on what kind of science I wanted to be in," Bayley said.

Upon graduating, this ocean enthusiast attended the University of Tampa for a dual major in marine science and biology with a minor in education. Bayley then hit the ground running, working at various aquariums and museums on the east coast. She currently resides in Washington, D.C. where she serves as an ocean educator for the Smithsonian Museum of Natural History. In this capacity, Bayley speaks with general visitors, scientists, and school groups alike. She delivers daily programs, discussing ocean conservation, crucial habitat functions, and different species from whales and giant squids to megalodons.

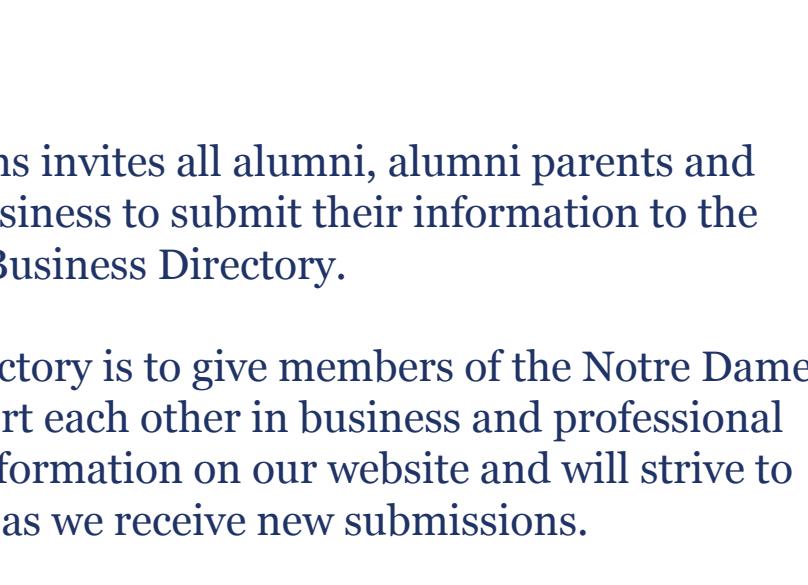

While she may live far from Jefferson Street, Bayley is still a Lancer through and through. "I probably think about Notre Dame every day," Bayley commented. Seven years later, she keeps in contact with her fellow classmates and even finds the time to volunteer on a regular basis.

Congratulations, Bayley! We wish you the best of luck in your future endeavors and we thank you for your commitment to service!
