Sapp: Ready to Fight for Our Community in Washington, DC August 1, 2025

Community leader Reverend Howard Sapp wants to fill the open seat left by Byron Donalds' decision to run for governor. Sapp knows we can do better. He says, "It's time for a change. The change people thought they were gonna get just didn't pan out. We need honesty and integrity in Congress, and I'm ready to serve." He continues, "I see a great opportunity to help Southwest Florida through strong, compassionate, and unyielding leadership. Folks in our community have real concerns, and we need someone who is going to be present and work for them."

Who is Howard Sapp? A Fort Myers native, a retired Air Traffic Controller, an award-winning gospel artist, and a proud father and husband, Reverend Sapp is committed to the success of his hometown and the good people who call Fort Myers home. He is the CEO of a local nonprofit that houses and cares for at-risk youth. Reverend Sapp is also involved in the men's ministry at his church.

As an air traffic controller, he focused on keeping people safe. He knows how to handle pressure and will speak up when things need to be said. He'll be our voice at the table, fighting for our education system, jobs, clean water, and protecting women's rights to the fullest extent.

The host committee for his kickoff event is forming now, and tickets can be purchased in advance through ActBlue. For Naples - https://secure.actblue.com/donate/votesapp_naples
