

Allan B. Claybon is a Senior Counsel for Sanders Roberts LLP. He serves as the primary attorney for the Intellectual Property (IP) department for the firm. He is responsible for various IP issues including trademark matters, entertainment matters, IP licensing, and IP enforcement. Allan has held primary responsibility for hundreds of federal trademark applications, multiple proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB) with extensive litigation experience in varied state and federal courts. Allan is also a licensed Patent Attorney with the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) handling IP issues involving technology, inventorship, and online rights of ownership. Allan has represented clients within varied industries including apparel, hospitality, alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages, cannabis, technology, business services, and entertainment. He also handles emerging issues related to digital IP rights including social media usage, e-commerce platforms, and internet content creators.

In addition to his specialization within IP, Allan has broad experience in litigation, being responsible for all aspects of litigation matters, up to and including trial, for matters including business and commercial disputes, partnership disputes, employment matters, and professional negligence. He uses his varied skills and experience to provide a refined, yet adaptable, approach to matters. Allan uses his litigation background to craft aggressive approaches to IP matters, while using his IP background to add creativity to his approaches in litigation matters.

Allan graduated from the University of Southern California with a major in Psychology and a minor in Natural Science in 2002. He then earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Southern California Gould School of Law in 2005.
