A Zoom night where families across the LBJ vertical team came to get everything they needed to know about the transition to middle school, high school and college. Families and students. Breakout rooms let families select for where they needed information or wanted to provide information. Each transition age had a themed gift basket raffled off with things that would be needed. We had about 30 students and family members come to our event, even after a reschedule post winter storm. Feedback from surveys suggested families found it helpful and demystified the processes.
