USI Insurance Services Named Insurance Partner for AESA

SEATTLE, Wash., (October 27, 2017) – USI today announced that they have been appointed as the Association of Educational Service Agencies' (AESA) preferred insurance broker for property & casualty and employee benefits.

Using the USI ONE Advantage® platform, representatives from USI's Seattle office will help AESA members better manage their property & casualty and risk strategies through a multitude of technical resources available. USI's property & casualty solutions include utilizing their proprietary OMNI data engine to benchmark members' current insurance programs and auditing them. USI's representatives will share key findings make recommendations on ways to reduce costs, while providing better coverage.

USI will also be a resource for AESA members to be able to offer competitive employee benefits to their employees and family members. USI provides compliance and healthcare reform guidance, proprietary analytics, wellness/population health management consulting and overall strategic planning.

"We are excited to introduce our knowledge and resources to AESA members in order to deliver the best coverage available in the marketplace," said Ed Fugo, Executive Vice President at USI. "We are confident members will find this offering extremely valuable in the overall planning and management of their enterprise."

The relationship between AESA and USI is effective immediately. Representatives from USI look forward to attending the upcoming annual conference in San Antonio, Texas.
