

News Release
For Immediate Release
November 11, 2022
Contact: Barbara Peterson
701-577-8110
barbp@ci.williston.nd.us

Hot off the Press! 2023 Livability Williston Magazine released

Williston, ND - Williston Economic Development (WED), the Williston Area Chamber of Commerce (WACC), and Williston Downtowners Association (WDA), are pleased to announce the 2023 Livability magazine has been released!

Livability is a Nashville, TN-based firm that explores what makes small-to-medium sized cities great places to live. This is the City of Williston's second issue. The campaign also features digital content.

The 2023 Livability Williston, ND, is geared towards attracting workers to northwestern North Dakota.

“Job Service North Dakota had nearly 17,000 job openings in October 2022. We believe Livability is another tool we can utilize to attract and retain workers in Williston,” said Shawn Wenko, Williston Economic Development executive director.

The 2023 magazine features stories on various topics including: Williston's strong entrepreneurial spirit, tech-driven development in unmanned aerial systems, cryptocurrency and value-added energy, an update on the new Williston school district, Williston State College's scholarship program, and much more.

If your business would like some free magazines to distribute to potential employees, please visit economic development at 113 4th Street East. They are also available at WACC, WDA and with the advertisers in the magazine including Mountrail-Williams Electric Cooperative, Overland Aviation, Pacific Steel and Recycling, Sanford Health, Williston Basin International Airport, Williston Basin School District #7, and Williston State College.

“Attracting workers is one of the most challenging issues facing every business in the state and region,” said Wenko. “We are offering the Livability content as another way to share Williston's story with potential workers and future residents. This is a nice snapshot of what we have available here.”

For nearly 30 years, Livability has worked with hundreds of communities to showcase why they are a great place to live. The campaigns help communities, like Williston, attract and retain residents and businesses.

For more information contact economic development at 701-577-8110.

Follow Williston Economic Development on Facebook (@willistoneconomicdevelopment), Instagram (@willistoneconomicdevelopment), and LinkedIn