

Every Sunday at Advent we offer our prayers for opportunities to engage in helpful conversations around the issue of racism.

Our prayers have been answered!
You are invited to participate in a
NEW RACIAL JUSTICE ADVOCACY PROGRAM

The initial offering of the program is an eight session series of lectures, sponsored by the Stan Greenspan Center for Peace and Justice. The lectures will be held throughout the fall of 2017 at Queens, Johnson C. Smith and UNCC. Our hope is that a group of interested people at Advent will attend these lectures and will remain connected to this network of Charlotte racial justice advocates.

In addition, we will think together on how we can best share our learnings from these lectures with the rest of the congregation. This may result in a forum/adult gathering during the Sunday school hour, advocacy trips to Raleigh or Washington, D.C., a new small group, and/or other opportunities for learning and growth.

To register for the series, please email Louise Clark, advocacy coordinator, at clarkl2@queens.edu. There is a $25 suggested registration fee for the advocacy series. Students are free. Please also email Toni Hagerman at hagermanic@gmail.com to connect with the group from Advent for carpooling and opportunities to discuss/debrief/plan for action.

Session One

Sunday, September 10, 6:30-8:00 pm, Queens University of Charlotte, Ketner Auditorium

"A Change is Gonna Come": From Civil Rights to Black Power

Waldo E. Martin, Jr., Alexander F. and May T. Morrison Professor of American History and Citizenship, University of California, Berkeley

Session Two

Thursday, September 28, 6:30-8:00 pm, Johnson C. Smith University, New Science Center Auditorium

Race is Nothing, Race is Everything: Understanding the Inclusion Process

Dr. Melvin Herring, Director of the Masters in Social Work Program,
Johnson C. Smith University

Dr. James Freeman, Assistant Professor in the Masters of Social Work Program at Johnson C. Smith University

Session Three

Thursday, October 5, 6:30-8:00 pm, Queens University of Charlotte

How We Got Where We Are with Race – Jim Crow, Civil Rights, and the Queen City

Dr. Sarah Griffith, Professor of History, Queens University of Charlotte

Dr. Mark Kelso, Professor of Political Science and International Studies, Queens University of Charlotte

Dr. Brenda Tindal, Staff Historian, Levine Museum of the New South

Session Four

Thursday, October 19, 7:00-8:30 pm, University of North Carolina Charlotte, James H. Barnhardt Student Activity Center, Salons D & E

An Examination of Race, Ethnicity, and “Othering” in American Religious Traditions

Dr. Julia Robinson Moore, Associate Professor, Dept. of Religious Studies, UNC Charlotte

Dr. Rodney Sadler, Associate Professor of Bible, Union Presbyterian Seminary

Moderator: Rabbi Judy Schindler, Associate Professor of Judaic Studies, Queens University

Session Five

Thursday, October 26, 7:00-8:30 pm, University of North Carolina Charlotte, Bonnie E. Cone University Center – McKnight Auditorium

Media and the Portrayal of RaceSession Six

Thursday, November 2, 6:30-8:00 pm, Johnson C. Smith University, Biddle Hall Gambrell Auditorium

Policing and Personal Pain

Moderator: Robert Dawkins, State organizer for SAFE (Safety Accountability Fairness Equity) and panel with parents who have lost children at the hands of police

Session Seven

Thursday, November 9, 6:30-8:00 pm, Queens University of Charlotte

Where We are and Where We Are going

Dr. Susan McCarter, Associate Professor of Social Work, University of North Carolina Charlotte

Brian Collier, Executive Vice President, Foundation For The Carolinas

Moderator: Mitchell Feld, Director of Children's Defense, Council for Children's Rights

Session EightSetting Our Advocacy Agenda

Thursday, November 16, 6:30-8:00 pm, Queens University of Charlotte