Foundation Year in Review

Expanded partnerships with Universities for the Certified Business Economist® (CBE) Program, record donations, and more scholarships to support professional development

The NABE Foundation, thanks to all of you, expanded its impact and results over the past year in pursuit of its mission: To provide those using business economics with a host of offerings designed to expand their professional development. As business economists, we understand the invaluable role that our profession plays across the globe on a daily basis. Our ability to provide and interpret data is what households, companies, and policymakers depend on for good decision making. With great leadership from the talented NABE staff focused on our Foundation and CBE activities—Tom Beers, Tara Munroe, Michele Soresi—along with the Board's helpful advice and guidance, our accomplishments last year exceeded many of the targets we had set:

- 2018 was another record fundraising year! The Economic Policy Conference and Annual Meeting campaigns brought in donations totaling over $60,000!
- Our CBE Program has grown to include nine University Partners, nearly double the number in 2017. Last year, we established partnerships with the University of Connecticut, University of Maryland, University of Memphis, and University of Texas at Arlington.
- During 2018, we offered 21 courses with 433 participants. Over 150 individuals now hold a CBE.
- We hit another record on the number of professionals who are applying for scholarships to CBE courses, the CBE exam, or attendance at NABE conferences. The Foundation awarded over $50,000 in such scholarships last year.
- We are so fortunate to have NABE leaders who make legacy donations. The Foundation received a second six-figure donation, which will enable the ongoing expansion of scholarship offerings and CBE program support for many years to come.

The Board members and NABE team are passionate about fundraising and support for scholarships because we know how beneficial our courses and our conferences are for professional development. Networking and sidebar conversations at the events are so valuable for all of us.

Thank you to all those who provided support last year. We are proud to say that includes all of the leaders on the NABE Board and Foundation Board and numerous NABE members, all of whom we recognize in this newsletter. Whether large or small, your contributions enable us to continue to grow our many important initiatives of The NABE Foundation.
