Army ROTC

Army ROTC is a college program of study that combines electives in military science and leadership with practical leadership development. Upon successful completion of the program and graduation from college, students receive a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the US Army. These classes are in addition to required academic courses and consist of 27 credits spread out over 8 semesters. Students can try out ROTC classes the first two years without an obligation.

Army ROTC Schedule

Military Science Class: 1-3 hours per week depending on grade level
Leadership Lab: once per week, Fridays 0600-0800
Physical Fitness: 3 times per week Monday, Tuesday & Thursday 0620-0730
Field Training Exercises: once a semester for 3-4 days at Ft McCoy
Advanced Camp: 35-day summer training event between Military Science III (junior) and Military Science IV (senior) years held at Ft Knox, KY. All ROTC students must attend. https://armyrotc.army.mil/advanced-camp/

Extra Curricular Activities

Students have multiple opportunities to develop as leaders and build comradery throughout the year. Army ROTC has clubs such as Recondo, Rappel, Color Guard, Service Committee and competition teams such as Ranger Challenge and Northern Warfare. In the summer, students can apply for language training, internships, and Army courses such as Airborne and Air Assault.

Scholarships

Scholarships may be available for qualified students contingent on funding. Most scholarships pay 100% tuition and fees OR $12K in room/board, $420 monthly stipend, and $600 a semester for books. ROTC students who are members of the Guard or Reserve may qualify for different scholarships. Scholarships are awarded based on merit looking at three areas: Scholar, Athlete and Leader.

Commitment

This varies slightly depending on scholarship status, but most students incur an 8-year commitment after graduation. If serving in the Regular Army (active), the commitment is 4 years active and 4 years in the Inactive Ready Reserve. If serving in the Army Guard or Army Reserve, the commitment is 8 years (one weekend per month, 2 weeks per year).

Basic Requirements for Army ROTC

1) Be between ages 17-30 at time of program completion
2) Be a US Citizen
3) Have a 2.5 GPA at time of contracting
4) Be medically qualified to serve in the military
5) Pass the Army Fitness Test
6) Good moral character
