

Bob Clark has a 38-year career in church administration, working for churches in Connecticut for 15 years, and after moving to Virginia in 2001, he has worked for Presbyterian churches here for 23 years, 10 of those years at the Old Presbyterian Meeting House in Alexandria. His experience has included church fundraising, property management and church finance.

Most recently Bob was the Project Manager for Lewinsville Presbyterian Church and for Fairlington Presbyterian Church assisting both churches with project management for their multi-million dollar renovations of both facilities.

Bob is a resident of Reston, has a long-time commitment to the church, and in his off time enjoys painting, travel, and art history.

Bringing enthusiasm, energy and a strong desire to be a part of the great work that is ahead at Capitol Hill Presbyterian Church, Bob looks forward to working with all of us as we work together to shape the future of our historic church.

Capital Campaign Consultant William (“Bill”) Krokowski has over 37 years of real estate related experience including holding executive positions with various national investment and development companies in three different markets (Washington DC, Denver and Salt Lake City). Bill founded REQUITY Real Estate Group, LLC in 2003. REQUITY provides both strategic and analytic support and guidance with respect to complex investment and development projects across various sectors and products, including residential, office, mixed use and industrial. REQUITY has also assisted private owners, churches and other institutions in valuing and strategically planning and structuring purchase, sale or joint venture development opportunities for their real estate holdings.

Bill has recently assisted many churches and other non-profits to navigate their real estate requirements and monetize their assets. With regard to churches, Bill has worked with several denominations and is currently working on his seventh church project. Many of these churches have mission programs tied to affordable housing, for which Bill has experience developing in the past as well. REQUITY has also purchased a site from a client after re-zoning the site and subdividing it. REQUITY is developing this site into 367 apartments in Alexandria, VA, which will include some affordable housing units. Bill is an member at the Georgetown Presbyterian Church and is looking forward to working with CHPC and Pastor Rachel.
