

Jim Holland - Juror of Selection & Awards

Jim Holland was born in 1955 in Schenectady N.Y. and attended Dutchess Community College where he received a degree in graphic design. After college he started refining the elements that would become his painting style, marked by stripped-down realistic depiction and a sense of solitude often found in the work of Edward Hopper—an artist for whom Jim has had lifelong admiration. The enduring themes in Holland’s paintings are the light and space near the ocean.

Jim works in his studio in Orleans, MA, and lives in Brewster MA with filmmaker Allison Argo. His work has been exhibited throughout the Northeast in various one-person and group shows, and is included in numerous private and institutional collections in the United States and Europe. Jim is represented by Left Bank Gallery in Wellfleet MA, Powers Gallery in Acton MA and North Water Gallery in Edgartown.
