RE: Termination of COVID-19 Paid Sick Leave Benefits

Dear Governor Hochul:

On May 11, 2023, President Biden will declare an end to the COVID-19 national emergency and public health emergency. Consistent with that declaration, New York COVID-19 paid sick leave benefits authorized by Chapter 25 of the Laws of 2020 should also end.

There is nothing more important to the undersigned construction trade organizations than protecting the health and safety of our member contractors' employees. Accordingly, during the unprecedented COVID-19 health emergency, we fully complied with the related COVID-19 emergency paid sick leave law. However, unless the Legislature acts to sunset or terminate the benefits authorized under this law, these significant financial employer obligations will continue in New York, notwithstanding the President's declaration which recognizes that COVID-19 has changed from being a pandemic to endemic infection.

Under Chapter 25 there is no provision that would ever trigger a reduction or termination of benefits, regardless of any change in the public health status of COVID-19 or official declaration. As a result, so long as COVID-19 remains in the human population, New York employers will continue to be obligated to pay this supplemental sick leave to their employees. This places an unreasonable, unfair and unsustainable financial burden on New York employers, and most likely was not what the Legislature even contemplated when it first enacted this emergency (and what everyone assumed would be temporary) law in March 2020. Additionally, after the COVID-19 paid sick leave law was passed, New York passed a paid sick leave law so employees and their families may avail themselves of paid leave benefits provided under New York's Paid Family Leave Program and regular paid sick leave law (Ch. 56, Laws of 2020), should they contract COVID-19 in the future.

We therefore respectfully request that you work with us in rectifying this statutory matter of critical importance to all New York construction employers who should no longer be liable for this continuing financial obligation.

Sincerely,
