Matt Jensen is a senior manager at Coker Group. He has a decade of consulting experience, including over six years of Big 4 business valuation and in-depth involvement in the Healthcare Industry.

Prior to joining Coker, Matt was a manager with GE Healthcare Camden Group, with experience serving in financial advisory roles. His areas of expertise include developing valuation opinions of businesses, intangible assets, and co-management arrangements. He also conducts assessments of provider compensation arrangements. Mr. Jensen strives to help healthcare organizations minimize risk and ensure that financial arrangements meet the complex requirements related to fair market value (FMV) and commercial reasonableness (CR) opinions.

Prior to joining GE Healthcare Camden Group, Mr. Jensen served as a manager at ECG Management Healthcare Consultants, where his focus was on valuation opinions, primarily related to healthcare mergers and acquisitions or other financial transactions.

Prior to joining ECG, Mr. Jensen worked for more than six years in the business valuation practices of Deloitte and KPMG. In 2013, he was selected as one of two members of Deloitte to participate in a prestigious management rotation, during which he helped develop the firm's valuation standards and financial models. Additionally, he has performed valuation analyses for two of the five largest bankruptcies in U.S. history, as well as several multibillion-dollar international acquisitions.

Mr. Jensen earned a master of business administration degree from the University of Florida's Warrington College of Business Administration and a bachelor of science degree in management, with an emphasis in corporate finance, from the Marriott School of Management at Brigham Young University.

He enjoys the outdoors and spending time with his family. He is an ultra-runner, is an Eagle Scout, and proficient in German.
