Director's Notes

Reaching Out and Engaging With You

Submitted by Toniann Leavitt, Program Director

Note: All underlined blue words or phrases are clickable links.

As we move into May, I'm excited to share a meaningful milestone for our community—OLLI at UNH has a new tagline: Built for Connection.

Powered by Curiosity.

This simple phrase captures what so many of you experience every day—coming together through shared interests, meaningful conversations and a genuine love of learning. It reflects both who we are today and where we are headed as we continue to grow.

I also want to extend a heartfelt thank you to everyone who participated in this year's (603) Challenge. Because of your generosity, we raised over $9,000 from 95 donors in support of OLLI at UNH. That is an incredible show of commitment to lifelong learning and to one another. Your support directly strengthens our programs, expands opportunities, and helps ensure OLLI remains vibrant and accessible for years to come.

What a semester it has been. From engaging courses to lively discussions, social gatherings and shared experiences across the state and online, Spring 2026 has truly reflected the energy and spirit of this community. It's been wonderful to see so many of you actively participating, volunteering and bringing OLLI to life.

And we're not slowing down. The Summer J-Term (courses held in months beginning with the letter J) is just around the corner, with a fresh lineup of opportunities to stay engaged between semesters. At the same time, planning is well underway for the Fall 2026 term, which will be here before we know it.

With the arrival of warmer weather, I encourage you to take full advantage of the season—whether that means joining an outdoor course, attending a SIG gathering or simply connecting with fellow members at an upcoming event. Some of the best moments at OLLI happen not just in the classroom, but in the conversations and connections that continue beyond it.

Thank you for being part of this community—for your curiosity, your engagement and the connections you help create every day.

Toniann Leavitt
Director, OLLI at UNH

MEMORIAL CONTRIBUTION

We extend our sincere thanks to Donna DeSimone and Dennis DeSimone for their generous gift of new lapel and headset microphones for all regions in honor of the late Kathy Cassano. Kathy was a member, volunteer, Class Assistant and Class Assistant Coordinator whose concentration was on ever-improving the member and presenter experience in the classroom. This meaningful contribution enhances that experience, helping ensure our courses remain engaging, accessible and enjoyable for all.

A Celebration of Volunteers

Happy National Volunteer Week!

April 19- 25, 2026

"I started teaching for OLLI because it was a chance to keep my Philosophy juices moving. But I have kept at it, and done some committee work because I have been drawn in to the OLLI community of learning. Acquiring new information is matched by the pleasures of friendly conversation."

~Jim Mahoney, Class of 2016

OLLI at UNH

April in OLLI

Lots of action for OLLI in April, but not so many pictures!!
Seems like arts and cards carried OLLI members through the April showers.

Left and below, members visited the Currier Art Museum in Manchester to learn about Beauty and Backstories: What's Behind a Work of Art? The class examined paintings and sculpture from the Currier's permanent collection and viewed the special exhibit of works by Jules Olitski, a New Hampshire artist with an international reputation.

In the Capital Region, members created their own masterpieces under the direction of presenter Donna Frost in Creating Small Works of Art at right and below.

Movies have long explored mental illness from every angle—portraying patients as monsters or victims, therapists as villains, fools or heroes, and institutions as either cruel or compassionate. Pictured below, Madness in the Movies with "tour guide" Dr. Steve Soreff, in his 17th term.

Oh, Those OLLI Gamblers!

Greater Manchester hosted its semi-annual Game Day featuring dominoes, board games, cards and whatever the creative competitors could play, below and at right.

Below, in Mt. Washington Valley, Canasta was the name of the game in the course, Canasta with Friends: Learn, Laugh & Play, led by Dotty Blake and Pat Hoffman. Members experienced all the fun and strategy of the game.

More April Classes

Below left, in Manchester Eleanor Strang captivates members with the story of Samuel Sewall, From Salem Witch Trial Judge to Anti-Slavery Advocate. Below right, Sarah Eastman and Karen Cummings presented the story of The Mountain Ear of Mt. Washington Valley, a publication reporting on the people, events and spirit of "the Valley."

Capital Region Chapter Chats

Submitted by Donna Frost

On June 1 we will discuss Moloka'i by Alan Brennert, discussion to be led by Carol Barleon. This meeting would normally occur on May 25, but is rescheduled due to the Memorial Day holiday.

Rachel Kalama, a spirited seven-year-old Hawaiian girl, is diagnosed with leprosy. She is taken from her home and family and sent to Kalaupapa, the quarantined leprosy settlement on the island of Moloka'i. Here her life is supposed to end—but instead she discovers it is just beginning.

Described as both joyful and heartbreaking, Brennert chronicles her life in isolation, her discovery of love and community, and her resilience, weaving personal story with significant Hawaiian history in a story of survival, love, and the strength of the human spirit.

If your library offers Hoopla or Libby you can borrow the audio version of this book. The reader does a wonderful job with Hawaiian accents and vocabulary.

The book selection for next month is:

June 29 - Horse by Geraldine Brooks. (Sally Embly, discussion leader)

Chapter Chats generally meets on the last Monday of the month at 1:30 p.m. on Zoom. There's never a requirement to finish or even read the book before the meetings; you can simply enjoy the discussion. OLLI members everywhere are welcome to join us by Zoom. Contact Donna Frost at dfrost49@hotmail.com for a Zoom link.

Fresh Reads - Seacoast

Submitted by John Russell

May's Fresh Reads selection is Abundance by Ezra Klein and Derek Thompson. Abundance explains that our problems today such as lack of housing, not enough workers, no clean-energy infrastructure and late and over-budget public projects are not the results of yesteryear's villains. Rather, one generation's solutions have become the next generation's problems. Rules and regulations designed to solve the problems of the 1970s often prevent projects that would help solve the problems of the 2020s. Laws meant to ensure that government considers the consequences of its actions have made it too difficult for government to act consequentially. In the last few decades, our capacity to see problems has sharpened while our ability to solve them has diminished.

Progress requires facing up to the institutions in life that are not working as they need to. It means, for liberals, recognizing when the government is failing. It means, for conservatives, recognizing when the government is needed. Exploring how we can move from a liberalism that not only protects and preserves but also builds, Abundance traces the political, economic and cultural barriers to progress and proposes a path toward a politics of abundance. At a time when movements of scarcity are gaining power in country after country, this is an answer that meets the challenges of the moment while grappling honestly with the fury so many rightfully feel.

Join us Monday, May 18 at 1:30 p.m. on Zoom to discuss ways we can move forward. Contact John Russell (russelljohnt@comcast.net) to receive the Zoom link.

Chair's Chat

Submitted by Su Bennett, Chair, Leadership Council

Communication is a noun. The definition is "giving, exchanging information and/or ideas." Synonyms include connection, contact, conversation, delivery, intelligence, link and transmission.

The riddle for this subject: How do trees communicate?

OLLI communicates with you in so many ways. Outlook (which you are, of course, reading now!) contains an amazing amount of information about things you don't know (yet), want to know and didn't know you wanted to know!

Outlook routinely has information about the next three weeks' courses that have seats available for you to enroll, Spring Catalog updates, date and time changes, and cancellations. There's also statewide and regional upcoming events, Lunch & Learns, and SIGs (Shared Interest Groups) which welcome members from any region for you to learn about as well as general information about OLLI.

Then there's Halfway Pointers giving you mid-month updates and any new events that are happening. Of course, the all-important emails from your Class Assistants and Zoom Moderators provide details about your upcoming classes.

Special-topic emails from OLLI Admin provide details about events and general information about OLLI and your membership. Town halls provide a live communication opportunity by which OLLI Admin or other leadership offer information and opportunity for questions and discussion either in person or on Zoom.

You communicate with OLLI in many ways, too. You complete the evaluation sent out after your class. Yes, they are definitely read and suggestions have resulted in, for example, new classes and wireless, handheld microphones for in-classroom presenters to use. Communication happens at committee meetings when volunteers plan events and the curriculum for the upcoming semester.

All communication has two parts – the sending, which is described in the first part of this article, and the receiving. No matter how much intended communication is sent, if members and leaders do not participate in the communication by reading or attending, actual communication doesn't happen. Communication works best when everybody participates in it!

So, if you have any questions or suggestions, please communicate with me, any of the OLLI Staff (Toniann, Tori, Bryan or Tessa), your Class Assistant, Zoom Moderator or any volunteer and we promise to get back to you or let you know the right person to approach.

The riddle answer: They bark.

Hope to see you in a class or fun event!

Su
