

Oscar Carmona, owner and operator of Healing Grounds Nursery, has spent the last 25 years helping connect people, plants and the planet. He is a recognized local horticultural expert and has taught sustainable landscaping courses, gardening classes and has offered resources and consultations regarding in-home food production throughout Southern California. In 2000 Mr. Carmona helped create the Green Gardener certification program which was the first program of its kind offered anywhere nationally or globally. He continues to teach Green Gardener courses including the Advanced Green Gardener and the new Small Scale Food Production.