ABOUT SHANTI FARMS & YARD CORPS

SCF is working with the local immigrant and refugee community to create a major urban agricultural training facility for economic development and education.

The company name “Shanti” appropriately means “peace” in Nepali. SCF is designed to preserve and showcase the agricultural heritage of Akron area immigrant families and youth. Projects include: urban farm for immigrants, Yard Corps/Golden Time Picnics, teen i-Pop and Gospel musical performances for middle and high school youth and Farm to School/Kuku-ra for elementary students. All with tutoring and ESL teaching components. In addition, bamboo building (landscaping items and furniture) and Shaman (Eastern traditional medicine doctors) healing.

ABOUT BEANZ' AFRICAN MUSIC

Black Beanz dance moves reflect an African fusion music genre sung primarily in Swahili. It's triple style trendy African genres (Bongo Flava out of Tanzania, Ndombolo out of Congo and Amapiano out of South Africa) combining traditional Afrobeats infused with R & B, hip hop, Reggae and gospel.

Dancing is primarily learned in the church and at family/village gatherings sometimes starting as early as 5 years old! In East Africa, where most of our African immigrant families originate, music and dance are important ways of communicating, motivating, and creating a community. For agricultural-based African families, dancing and singing is an important part of the day while working in the fields.

Western Music is, broadly speaking, expressed with emphasis on the downbeat, whereas African music seems to emphasize the rhythm on the upbeat. Notice how African dancing stresses downward movements, Asian and European stress upward movements (hands raised).
