Marc Tonnesen and the Lanza Family warmly invite you to visit the Wooden Valley Winery & Vineyards to sample wines, connect with friends and colleagues, and experience some old-fashioned Lanza family hospitality.

For three generations, family-owned Wooden Valley Winery has been producing award-winning wines from the Suisun Valley appellation, a pristine winegrowing region nestled between two coastal mountain ranges southeast of Napa Valley. The Lanza family shares a strong connection to the land and an unrelenting commitment to improving the way they farm their vineyards and craft their wines. Over the years, their experience in the fields helped produce an exceptional selection of varietals from rootstocks perfectly suited to the region's microclimates. Taking time to share food and wine with family and friends has always been a part of the family's heritage.
