

GEORGIA COTTON COMMISSION ANNUAL MEETING

Jan. 28, 2026 UGA Tifton Campus Conference Center 8 a.m. into afternoon Tifton

This one-day annual meeting of the Georgia Cotton Commission is held in conjunction with the UGA Cotton Production Workshop conducted by the UGA Research & Extension Cotton Team. The UGA Cotton Production Workshop will feature breakout sessions where attendees will learn the latest technical production strategies from the researchers whose projects are funded by the Commission's research program. The Georgia Cotton Commission Annual Meeting will follow the breakout sessions and feature speakers from several industry organizations. The program speakers are University of Georgia Extension Entomologist Dr. Phillip Roberts; USDA Farm Service Agency Chief of Staff Mary Catherine Cromley; and National Cotton Council of America Vice President of Operations Marjory Walker. Following the morning speakers, the Commission will host lunch where individuals will hear from Rachel Kinsaul, Georgia's 2025 Teacher of the Year; sponsors will be recognized; door prizes will be given away; and awards will be presented. The meeting, production workshops, and lunch are open to not only cotton growers, but anyone interested in the cotton industry. The UGA Cotton Production Workshop breakout sessions will be repeated after lunch. There is no charge to attend. Pre-registration is requested to help with meal plans.
