Instructions for Dialing German Telephone Numbers

As in many European countries, German land-line telephone numbers consist of the country code ("49" for Germany), the city code ("341" for Leipzig, "3491" for Lutherstadt Wittenberg) and the local phone number. Cellular phone numbers consist of the country code ("49") plus the 10-digit phone number (recently, there are some with 11-digits.)

- When dialing from outside of Germany, dial the local international access code plus all parts of the phone number. (Example: to call the Colleg Wittenberg from the USA, dial 011-49-3491-50 79 50.)
- When dialing long-distance within Germany, dial "0", then the city code and the local phone number. (Example: to call the Colleg Wittenberg from Leipzig, dial 0-3491-50 79 50.)
- When dialing German-based cellular phones ("Handys") from outside of Germany, dial the country code plus the phone number. (Example: to call Silvio Reichelt from the USA, dial 011-49-173-775-89-48.)
- When dialing a German-based cellular phone from any phone in Germany, dial "0" plus the phone number. (Example, to call Silvio Reichelt within Germany, dial 0-173-775-89-48.)
- Hotel phones typically require that you dial "0" to reach an outside line, or, less frequently, "9".
