

6 February 2021

Dear Pang,

It is my pleasure to inform you that the CCAE State Awards Committee has voted to award you the 2021 Donald A. McCune Collaborative Award. You were nominated by multiple CCAE Central Section members and you have far surpassed the eligibility requirements for the award - "The nominee must have, for five years or more, established collaborative arrangements among agencies to enhance services to the adult learner."

The Donald A. McCune Collaborative award "honors the memory of Donald A. McCune, who was Director of the Adult, Alternative, and Continuing Education Division of the State Department of Education when he passed away. As an administrator, educator, and advocate for adult programs, he received numerous honors and awards. He served as the CCAE Board Liaison from the SDE and was selected by President Reagan to serve on the Training Committee of the White House Conference on Productivity. He was also a member of the Board of the American Association of Adult and Continuing Education. He held a doctoral degree from Stanford University and authored a number of national publications in the field of adult literacy."

Thank you for all that you do for our adult school community in the Central Section and congratulations on your award!
