BLAKE VAN LEER '14

What are you currently up to?

I am currently serving in the US Army where I have been stationed with B. TRP 7-17th H-ARS, 1ACB, 1CD at Ft. Hood, Texas. I am a 15R which is an AH-64D/E repairer, they are known as the apache attack helicopter. I am a maintainer and crew chief on one of the twenty-four aircraft in the squadron. As crew chiefs, we have our own bird that we are fully responsible for when it comes to inspections and maintenance. We are currently training for deployment with field exercises and collective gunnery tables. These tables consist of many engagements where pilots maneuver and fire on targets with 30 mm rounds, rockets, and hellfire missiles. Day to day I ensure that my aircraft is fully mission capable and ready to go at a moment's notice.

Tell us about your family?

Being in this career I have two families, one at home and one here. My family at home is my biggest support system. I can always count on them when times are tough. Some people say that heroes are the ones who serve, but I say the heroes are the families that are left at home. They are the reason I have the motivation to keep going forward. My family here consists of the closet brothers and sisters that I serve with. You will never be able to find a bond like the one that we share anywhere in the world. I will go to all ends of the earth with them in any situation..
