Pnina Bravmann, Au.D., CCC-SLP/A, TSHH, SAS, LSLS Cert. AVT, is the founder and director of Strivright, the Auditory Oral School of New York (AOSNY). Strivright is the largest preschool program in the world focused on listening, spoken language, literacy and social skills for children with hearing loss, and the StriVright to Succeed early intervention program. Bravmann provides evaluations, support services and school consultations to assist children with hearing loss and their families with mainstreaming.

Strivright was founded in 1999 by Dr. Bravmann, a highly trained expert in the field of Audiology and Speech Pathology. Over the past 15 years, Strivright has helped well over 5,000 children.

Strivright services children that have hearing impairments, speech and language delays and difficulty with auditory processing. The primary function of Strivright is to teach children to succeed, and to enable them with skills that will allow them to listen, talk, think and socialize well with others.

The goal is to successfully prepare children for their world and mainstream children to their neighborhood schools by their Kindergarten school year. Strivright provides unparalleled services to children throughout New York annually and gives them the key to an unlimited future.
