- More than 2,000 mourners met in Houston Texas to mourn the death of George Floyd. This also signals the celebration of the movement for social justice
- The World Health Organization advised that there is still much unknown about asymptomatic transmission.
- The Trump administration is planning to roll out another plan relating to immigration.

Infection Prevention Medical Director

- The Health Services Coronavirus huddle began at the beginning of March, the frequency has been decreased to two times per week, starting next week we will have the morning huddle on Wednesdays only.
- Out in the community, people are now able to open businesses including restaurants, nail salons, barber shops –
- It is important to continue to follow the proper precautions, practice good hand hygiene and carry hand sanitizer because COVID-19 is still out there.
- An executive physician leadership meeting is taking place this week.
- Will continue to update our guidelines to keep everyone safe.
- As of now, there are 5 Orange County sites open. The Orange County evaluation sites are a symptomatic site and need to test symptomatic people because they are giving us the test kits. There is a bit more flexibility with AltaMed patients who come to Orange County because AltaMed test kits would be used in this instance.
- For staff testing, please continue to go to your medical provider.
- Please continue to use the mask and respirator use and re-use policy.
- Please let us know if you have any recommendations on how we can continue to disseminate the information.

Human Resources

- This month, LiveWell Employee Wellness will host a webinar titled “Where’s Your Mind At? The Mental Part of Health” this Thursday, June 18th from 12pm to 1pm. The webinar is focused on maintaining your mental health especially during these challenging times. Thinking positively, taking deep breaths, mindfulness, or simply appreciating nature, you can learn some tools to help reduce stress and connect you to total health. Participants will receive 50 LiveWell points through Vitality. To Register, Log onto Vitality; Click Resources; Click Health Resources; Select Health FYI Webcasts.
