

Tamara's Astrology Corner

ASTROLOGY HEADLINES

ASTROLOGY HEADLINE?

Astrology Weekly Headlines for Week, May 9, 2025

Drama Queens

Laugh And The World Laughs Legitimately Stuck—People Assist

Friday 9th, Libra Moon trine Jupiter. Sweet day for a date. Emotions are elevated. Mercury semi-sextile Saturn can make communication difficult. Not usually mean spirited however. Not a day to assemble something which has poor directions. Winging it doesn't seem to work.

Saturday 10th, Scorpio Moon enters at 12:59 pm Pacific Time. Moon opposite Chiron/Mercury, square Pluto. Sharp words could pop out during conversations. Sometimes, the more you are trying to assist someone, the more tangled up in their drama you can get. Mercury enters Taurus so toiling in the garden can be enjoyable during the next couple of weeks. People can seem stuck in their ways during this period.

Sunday 11th, Happy Mother's Day! Scorpio Moon square Mars which turns up the heat. Maybe sidestep confrontations if you can. Mercury semi-sextile Neptune so careful with mood altering substances. Over indulging is too easy. Mars sesqui-quardate North Node so getting others riled up without meaning to is too easy.

Monday 12th, Full Moon in Scorpio will be in opposition to the Sun/Uranus/Hygia thus bringing changes over the next two weeks. Discussions may ensue regarding health and welfare. Moon will trine North Node and trine Saturn creating a fortunate grand trine which assists us in our undertakings. Mercury square Pluto can give tension in our attempts to sort out problems. Use the old tried and true method of counting to 10.

Tuesday 13th, Sagittarius Moon trine Neptune, sextile Pluto, and trine Venus. Can you feel the tension easing off a bit? If you are able to, can you laugh through current issues? Times like these, our humor is a powerful weapon.

Wednesday 14th, Sagittarius Moon trine Mars. Ask a fun friend to join you for a walk and talk around your neighborhood. Sun semi-sextile Jupiter so enjoy your surroundings during your outings. Planning out your coming weekend could be also be fun.

Thursday 15th, Capricorn Moon opposite Jupiter, trine Chiron, square the Nodes/Saturn/Neptune. Are there end of school year projects you need to work on? This energy shouts out for you to not procrastinate. No one is going to come out of the woodwork and do your work for you. But with this effective energy, people may assist you if you get legitimately stuck while trying your best. Sun semi-sextile Chiron so careful not to trip on something that you didn't see. Mercury semi-square Jupiter can have you saying the wrong thing. Sun sextile North Node can clear your path so you can perceive how to proceed in your future undertakings. Great day for decision making.

My heartfelt blessings to all my readers.