

Tamara's Astrology Corner

ASTROLOGY HEADLINES

ASTROLOGY HEADLINES

Astrology Weekly Headlines for Week Starting March 7, 2025

Gossip
Cleaning Up
Dramatic Lunar Eclipse

Friday 7th, Cancer Moon square North-Node/Neptune/Mercury. There's a chance you could feel snubbed by someone you consider close. Sun trine Mars as Mars is now marching forward. This may put a zip in your step. Projects which have been dragging get a push forward. Careful about doing without thinking. Mars is known for "ready, fire, aim".

Saturday 8th, Cancer Moon square Venus/Chiron, conjunct Mars, trine the Sun/Saturn. Feeling everything deeply is the tone of this day. People may want to gossip. It's best to excuse yourself from those conversations. Take time out to center yourself. Not a day to throw yourself into the fray. Sun semi-square Pluto might assist to cut out something frivolous, which the Venus retrograde that we are currently experiencing is also asking of you.

Sunday 9th, Leo Moon arrives at 4 pm Pacific Time. Moon sextile Uranus, trine North Node/Neptune and opposite Pluto. Things flow easier than yesterday, especially earlier in the day. Not a good day to make a good impression on someone this evening.

Monday 10th, Leo Moon trine Mercury/Venus, and sextile Jupiter. Launching your ideas tend to be well received. Enjoy the limelight.

Tuesday 11th, Leo Moon trine Chiron, and square Uranus. Healing day, but ready yourself for changes. Consider calling up a good friend or supportive parent to rehash personal recent experiences to gain a more healthy perspective. Sun semi-sextile Chiron can shine a light on something that is bothering you. Venus semi-square Uranus can feel a little like that mosquito which tries to bite you just as you are trying to doze off to sleep. IRRITATING. Mercury conjunct Venus. Writing projects gain ground. Joan Rivers, Will Smith, and Johnny Depp all have this hit-n-run humor as they hold this in their charts.

Wednesday 12th, Virgo Moon semi-square Mars. Quieter day. Use this breather for introspection. Reminds me of Kenny Rogers' song, "Just Dropped In..." Mercury semi-square Uranus. Sun conjunct Saturn fuels satisfaction through hard work. This once a year transit offers an opportunity to push your work forward.

Thursday 13th, Full Lunar Eclipse. Moon in Virgo square Jupiter, sextile Mars, opposite Saturn/Sun. Most people are going to notice the shift that this extremely powerful eclipse is going to have on their lives. Saturn takes on a big part of this transformation. Do you partake in habits that clutter your life? This takes place on the South Node of the Moon which enhances the possibilities of things leaving your life in order to usher in a more productive and positive life experience for you. Proactive approach is rewarded in cleaning up your life.

My heartfelt blessings to all my readers.