

Thriller Halloween Dance & Party at HCB

It's become an annual event now. It's not really Halloween without the Hartford City Ballet's annual Halloween party complete with the opportunity to learn Michael Jackson's famous Thriller music video dance. You Tube is full of examples of this famous dance from 1983, but none are more creative or kid friendly than HCB's version taught in their ballet studio and danced by neighborhood kids and accomplished ballet dancers side by side.

But that's not the end of the fun. There's also lots of games including a scavenger hunt, bowling with real pumpkins (the pins are tp rolls), mini golf, and of course, face painting.

It's a great way to bring neighborhood kids into the studio to have a safe fun party and see what a wonderful opportunity is available to the neighborhood.

It's also a break for the dancers who from here on out will be rehearsing for their annual Nutcracker Performance. This year it will be at the Greater Hartford Academy of the Performing Arts on December 18th.

In the mean time, if you're interested in hoop dancing, they are offering a class every Sunday from 3:00 - 4:00 pm

All this and a lot more is available on their website <http://www.hartfordcityballet.org>
For more photos of the Thriller party, go to <https://goo.gl/photos/3Zd25SJb5aLqnvjn7>

