

Non-Profit World TV Show

AHNA recently received a Christmas gift that we weren't expecting. From seemingly out of the blue Sekienna Ellis, an AHNA Board member informed Yvonne that there is a TV show called The Nonprofit World produced by Sara DeGraff at Nutmeg TV, a public access station in Farmington CT; and she features the stories of various nonprofit organizations. She had an opening right before Christmas and wanted to know if anyone was available to be interviewed.

As it turns out both Yvonne Matthews AHNA Chair and I

(Bernie Michel AHNA Staff Administrator) were able to go and tell the AHNA story. The good fortune was enhanced when we arrived and found out that the host that would be interviewing us was Donna Haghigat, who we first met when she worked for Hartford Public Library, and later with the YWCA.

Donna has attended AHNA meetings and is already familiar with the work that AHNA does in the neighborhood, so she made it easy to tell our story.

It will take a few weeks for the tape to be edited and ready to be released to the world, but when it is we will surely let everyone know.

Sara's past programs can be seen on You Tube at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wUv5iC0XWRI> and if you have a nonprofit who's story you think should be told, you can contact Sara via Linked In at enjoys it, taking time away from her new business as Principal, at Collabarynht Collective

LLC where she helps nonprofits and small businesses grow. You can see her new website and contact her at <http://www.collabarynhtcollective.com>
