

Asylum Hill Then & Now

The photo above was taken in April of 2014 when work was temporarily halted. The students had been moved to MLK and were making the best of a difficult situation that would last a year longer than planned. Below is a photo from opening day, August 30th when the students finally returned. It marks the beginning of a new era for Asylum Hill and especially for the West Middle Community School families. It really is “the Community’s School”
