

AH Then & Now – 293 Farmington Ave

The photo above is from the February 2017 Then & Now column, and it was the “now” photo. Frequently in this column the “Then” photo looks back on a brighter past than now. This month we’re happy to turn that around. In the four and a half years since this photo was taken showing plywood over windows, the owner has decided to fix it up and make it into residential units. In the photo below you can see the labels on all of the windows indicating that all of them have been replaced. Over the past several years, a lot of work appeared to be done to the foundation and the siding, and now it should be getting ready for completion. The timing couldn’t be better, as the shopping center across the street just completed a facelift including the mural that was written up in our May issue.
