

Lunch and Listen Concert in the Park Series

The Hartford's HSO Community Concerts in Liam E. McGee Memorial Park series began this year on May 16th (the rain date) with a wind quintet from the Hartford Symphony Orchestra. The event began with a welcome and introduction by Sarah Morin the Assistant Director of Community Relations and Corporate Sustainability at The Hartford.

This incredibly wet May might have contributed to the less than hoped for attendance, people just weren't prepared for a really pleasant Thursday noon with light clouds and beautiful sun in the comfortable high 60's. For those who were, they were treated to a really nice hour of light classical music played by five members of the Hartford Symphony Orchestra, as well as a nice selection of prepared to order foods available for lunch. Since the lines were short and the weather was perfect, the wait was more than tolerable.

However if you are one of those who missed this opportunity, know that there is another waiting for you on June 4th (or June 5th depending on the weather) when the Hartford Symphony Brass quintet will present the second of this summer series.

This series is just one example of The Hartford's connection to the Asylum Hill and Hartford community. It's a chance for the neighborhood to spend some pleasant time together.
