

Asylum Hill Then & Now 293 Farmington Ave

This photo was one of a series taken by the Hartford City Parks apparently as a tree survey. The number on the tree in the foreground is 91. It was most likely taken within a few years of the construction of this building. Below is the same building today looking much the same from the exterior however much worse for the wear. It is one of several that HPA is trying to preserve as part of Farmington Avenue's heritage.
