- Individual donors such as those who gave last meeting are critical to the success of AHNA and Yvonne has agreed to champion this effort

- Nonprofit membership should be another source of revenue and Saint Francis has already donated an contributions based on the relative size of the organization will be sought with opportunities for all available; Marcus Mckinney has agreed to champion this effort
- Corporate sponsorships will be another strategy, and Dean Amadon has agreed to champion this effort

Donation Envelopes will be available at all meeting going forward so that everyone has an opportunity to help in the effort

I-84 Hartford Project update: Rich Armstrong from CT DOT along with Tim Ryan from Trans Systems and Marcy Miller from Fitzgerald & Halliday, Inc. spoke about the I-84 Hartford project that plans to replace the 2-mile stretch of elevated highway that was constructed nearly 50 years ago. Since 2013 efforts have been underway to study the area and through numerous meetings with stakeholders to determine the best option to redesign the highway to minimize its impact on the surrounding community.

- Goal is to blend into the environment especially where the highway interacts with the local streets.
- The at grade option appears to be the most viable which will include moving the railroad tracks and creating a new Union Station for rail.
 - Details as to on and off ramp etc. remain for this year and some of 2017
 - There is the potential to cap part of the on grade plan to achieve the feel of a below ground option
 - Could incorporate East Coast Greenway
 - Complete environmental study will be done including noise on the final design before it becomes the “design of record”
 - Then begins acquiring property necessary for construction as well architectural plans – about 2 years
 - Construction to take 2-3 years after that
 - All funding will need to be secured before construction begins
 - Excess land freed up will likely be given to the City to determine use
 - Bushnell park will not be touched
 - I-84 Hartford is very near the top of the Governor’s priority list
- Updated drawings including 3-D renderings are available on the website at <http://www.i84hartford.com> as well as the schedule of public meetings
